Christmas Play Opens Tonight

A symbolic title characterizes the medieval morality play, "Everyman," to be staged tonight and Saturday night at 8 o'clock, in the Little Theater under the direction of Harold Ulrici. The play opened with a matinee yesterday at 3 p.m.

Adapted by Esther Willard Bates, the play's original author is not known, for it first was given in the fifth century. It is a religious play and is usually given around the Christmas or Easter seasons. This play's cast consists almost entirely of college students.

In this story, "Everyman" has to face death with a record of his life. He has a struggle in showing that he should be permitted to go to heaven and requests the help of several friends. From then on he has to battle the effects of his past wrongs to succeed.

The "Everyman" cast includes: Messenger, Angie Lavorato; Adonai, Irvin Forbes; Death, Christopher Crist; Fellowship, Ann Newkirk; Everyman, Jim Maloney; Cousin, Lola Jeani; Kindred, Judy Pierce; Goods, Ralph Pirkans; Good Deeds, Shirley Morris; Knowledge, Janis Thomas; Confession, Bob Todd; Discretion, Dave McKeel; Strength, Eugene Morga; Five Wits, Delores Dickison; Beauty, Joanna Johnson; and Angel, Pat Taylor.

Mary Ann Baldwin has been doing a lot of work on costumes to head the department list. Stage manager is Ann Newkirk who also handles lighting. Pat Taylor has charge of sound effects and script, and Shirley Skelton is chairman of the programs.

Music Club Musical Held

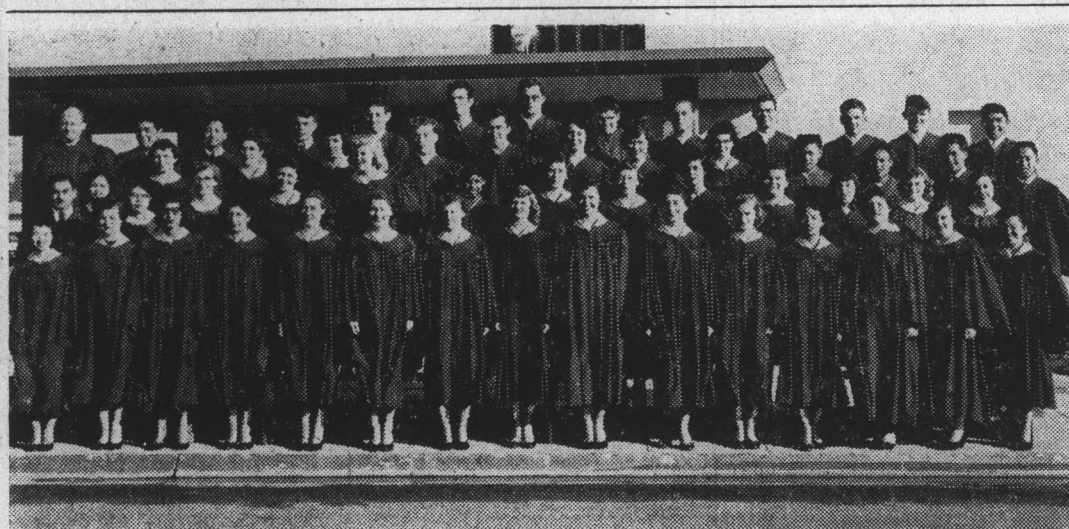

The Hartnell College Concert Ensemble last Monday gave a program featuring Christmas carols. The program was attended by approximately thirty persons.

Leading the ensemble and singing was Mr. Lorell McCann. The ensemble was made up of Mary Migotti, Beverly Hargraves, Charles Papentelli, Doris Henry, Sylvia Lewis, and Roberta Cowan.

"The program," said Jim Bender, publicity director for the club, "was very successful, and I wish to thank all who attended."

The Music Club is planning to have similar programs in the future, and would like to encourage greater attendance.

Hartnell Choir In Many Yuletide Appearances

The Hartnell Choir is shown as it appeared recently, and will appear again tonight, in its Christmas program of songs. The choir is performing under the direction of Mr. Vahé Aslanian, voice instructor at Hartnell College.

Madrigal Singers At Assembly

The Hartnell Madrigals just topped off a full schedule of performances in our assembly today.

Following the program scheduled for them by Mr. Aslanian, and under his guidance and teaching, they succeeded in gaining a reputation for themselves in the college field.

Their tour for the week was as follows:

December 8: Presbyterian Women's Club, Salinas Presbyterian Church.

December 15: Salinas Lions Club.

December 16: All Saints Church at Carmel-by-the-Sea.

December 17: St. Paul's Church in Salinas.

December 18: Hartnell assembly at 11 o'clock.

Assembly Held At Eleven Today

From the strains of Sonny Reyes' voice to the caroling voices of the Madrigals, a dynamic Christmas program was held in the Men's Gym at 11 o'clock today.

Maxine Russo assembled a wonderful group for us. Besides the skit put on by Angie Lavorato, Shirley Skelton, Gloria Rust, there were instrumental solos by members of Mr. McCann's music group.

After the program was over the students and faculty were treated to refreshments and cookies.

First Aid Kits Now Required On Field Trips

A new state law from the state code of school laws was received by the college last week.

This law states that when going on a field trip all groups must carry a required first aid kit. The college has two, one with the standard equipment and another supplied by the college, contains items not in the required kit.

According to Mr. Lemos, it is a misdemeanor to go on any trips without the kits, and if anyone responsible for a group does not abide by the rule he may face legal action.

Hartnell Has Speakers At Rotary Meeting

Last week a delegation from Hartnell spoke at the Rotary Club of King City. This delegation consisted of Coach Dick Voris, President John Lemos, and Frank Schonfelder, trustee.

Mr. Schonfelder spoke on the expansion of the Hartnell School District. Coach Voris spoke on the experiences of the Panther football team for the past two years. Mr. Lemos spoke on the advan-

AGS Buys Homecoming Queen's Cup

For several years the Alpha Gamma Sigma Scholarship Society has been planning to buy a cup for the Homecoming Queen. This year enough money was raised and the members ordered a 24-inch cup.

At the November 3 A.G.S. meeting the cup was displayed and the members voted to have all the past queens' names engraved on the cup.

While being shipped to Hartnell the top of the cup came loose, but the damage was not serious and will be repaired by the company at no extra cost.

The first official presentation of the cup will be to next year's Homecoming Queen; and the following names will be engraved on the cup before them: 1947, Nadine Conger; 1948, Carolyn Harris; 1949, Carol Stormont; 1950, Ida Garcia; 1951, Mary Gray; 1952, Sally Lipsett; 1953, Arlene Mill.

Correction

The editor and staff of The Panther Sentinel extend their apologies to Mr. Don Mignola, whose name was accidentally misspelled in the article in the last issue of the paper, concerning his donation of the roses commemorating Hartnell's football victories. The mistaken reporter has been beheaded.

Ends Christmas Performances This Week

Hartnell College's 55-voice choir, under the direction of Mr. Vahé Aslanian and assisted by Elizabeth Seccombe, harpist; William T. Stone, organist; and three Hartnell student soprano soloists, Valerie Johnston, Sylvia Lewis, and Marylyn McLaren, made its 1953 Christmas concert debut, December 16, at the All Saints Episcopal Church at Carmel-by-the-Sea. On December 17, it presented a similar concert at the St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Salinas. Both concerts began at 8 p.m.

Choral works to be presented by the Hartnell choir include a Ceremony of Carols written by Benjamin Britten; Chorales from the Christmas Oratorio by Johann Sebastian Bach, and Rejoice, Beloved Christians, by Dietrich Buxtehude.

A Ceremony of Carols, composed by the contemporary English composer, Benjamin Britten, in 1942, is a picturesque site of ten carols for treble voices and harp within a liturgical framework of a Procession and Recession inspired by plainchant.

The three chorales by Johann Sebastian Bach are taken from his monumental Christmas Oratorio. "How Shall I Fitly Meet Thee" is the concluding work of Part One. "Break Forth, O Beauteous Heavenly Light," is Number 12 of Part Two.

The Chorale Prelude, "Herzlich Thut Mich Verlangen," is a treatment of the choral tune, "How Shall I Fitly Meet Thee." The final Chorale Prelude, "Von Himmel Hoch," is based on the Chorale, "Good News From Heaven." It has long been the custom for organists to compose variation on the chorale tunes. These Chorale Preludes by Johann Sebastian Bach are among the finest examples of this art.

Hartnell choir members participating in the Christmas concerts include: sopranos, Jenean Brantley, Natty Bullis, Alma Burke, Patsy Dees, Lilla Ebell, Margaret Ellis, La Joy Gustavson, Angie Hernandez, Barbara Houston, Gladys Hunter, Simona Ikeda, Valerie Johnston, Sylvia Lewis, Marylyn McLaren, Arlene Pesce, Melinda Robbins, Betty Jo Todd, Loretta Turpin, and Sally Waterman. THE EDITOR'S VIEWS

By DARRELL RAINS

The staff of The Panther Sentinel join the students of Hartnell—and of the other California junior colleges—in extending congratulations to Bakersfield for its victory in the 1953 Junior Rose Bowl game.

The Hartnell band and team members who attended the game have stated that the game was well played, and that the large attendance showed Pasadena had probably made a wise choice in its selection (as regards attendance if not otherwise).

As you may have noticed, the March of Dimes ad on Page 2 indicates that the campaign is to begin on January 2, 1954. It may be a little early to start advertising it, but we won't be back at college until the 4th, and the March of Dimes is definitely a campaign that's worth contributing to. Polio is one of the most dreaded diseases, and the March of Dimes has saved many a life. Let's all get behind it and help.

The lighted and decorated Christmas tree in the main hall and the Christmas carols resounding through the halls have made it evident lately that the Christmas season is really near. The two-week holiday that starts tomorrow has awakened us to the fact that it's time to forget the looming newspaper deadline long enough to wish one and all A VERY MERRY CHRISTMAS AND A HAPPY NEW YEAR!

DID YOU KNOW . . .

By RICK OLIVER

- . . . that two weeks from now you will be coming back to the college for a rest.
- . . . that Virgil Herring, our uranium prospector, is back with us. He has found uranium, but the commercial value will not be known until next spring.
- . . . that the trophy for winning the C.C.N.J.C. has arrived. You may see it in the office if you so desire.
- . . . that at the Hartnell-Cal Poly football game, $1,089 was raised for the Bob Scofield fund. Great work and THANKS.
- . . . that the sports awards for intramural sports will be medals. In the past this has not been so.
- . . . that Carolyn Whitney is quite an outstanding writer of poems, a few of which have been published in magazines and newspapers.
- . . . that the TV circuit which the college considered and turned down would have cost $1,000. This money was needed elsewhere this semester. Maybe next semester will see it realized.
- . . . that the assembly today should really put you in the holiday mood.
- . . . that Pat R. Deese is the only woman veteran attending Hartnell.
- . . . that the Alumni is thinking of buying an addressograph for the college.
- . . . that a new fraternity has formed unofficially on the campus. It's called "Tappa Kegga Beer."
- . . . that Rosita Borja and Lily Malleobus appeared on television last Friday. They cooked a dish from their homeland.
- . . . that we have an author of several books in our midst. Her name is Maria Manuela who has written a book called "Anxiety" and another named "Solitude," plus a few others which we will refrain from mentioning here. These books are written in Portuguese.
- . . . that the Christmas tree in the hall was donated by Mr. Ben Young of the Wonder Hill in Prunedale, and was decorated very nicely by Cleo Strong, Angie Hernandez, and Barbara Houston.
- . . . that last Wednesday the Art Club sold paintings to raise money for their Art Scholarship fund.
- . . . that Ken Beecher left Hartnell to go "weather-guessing" in Spain.
- . . . that the Flying Club last Tuesday held a movie on the Theory of Flight.
- . . . that Rick Oliver and Judy Blair were selected to go to the Student "Y" Conference at Asilomar for a week during the holiday vacation.
- . . . that most of us have failed in keeping our resolutions for this year. Let's start off the New Year right by sticking to all that we might make.
- . . . that the jerk who writes this column would like to wish all the students and faculty, who can bring themselves to read this conglomeration of facts, A VERY MERRY CHRISTMAS and a HAPPY NEW YEAR!

If Hartnell can accomplish the latter feat it will be a great asset to the college.

History Class Takes Trip

A very interesting field trip was taken by Mr. Johnston's California History class last week through the historic and picturesque Carmel Valley.

The group stopped first at the Royal Presidio in Monterey, where they went through the interesting old structure which was the military garrison of the capital of California at one time.

The group went next to the old Carmel Chapel, founded in 1770 by Padre Junipero Serra. There they admired the ancient structure and observed the durability of the Spanish construction.

At the next stop, the Customs House in Monterey, the students were treated to a talk by the director of the museum run in conjunction with the old house. They also toured the museum.

The group saw the marker commemorating the first landing by white men in this area. It was there that Padre Junipero Serra held the first religious services in California.

The tired but happy group went next to Colton Hall, home of the first constitutional convention. They then returned to Salinas, stopping at Carmel Mission de San Carlos Borromeo del Rio Carmelo for a tour of the mission and the adjoining museum. Among other things the group learned that this mission was founded in 1771 by Junipero Serra.

The students ended their tour at Hartnell once again, refreshed and with considerably more knowledge about this ancient and interesting region we live in than they had before.

Long and Short of Hartnell Band

OH BROTHER . . . if you think you have troubles, consider the plight of Hartnell College Band Director Lorell McCann. The band has one of the best triangle players in the business, Miss Terry Bulilis, who stands four feet nine inches and has to march in the same line with the Sopsophone players. She is just about lost in the Sopsophone section which reaches six feet in height or better. George Henderson, left, and Leland Geiger aren't too certain whether she can whip the problem by standing on a box.

Know Your Social Security

(The Fourth of a Series)

By J. R. INGRAM

The types of Social Security Benefits available are:

FAMILY BENEFITS: If you should die, your widow would get a monthly payment as long as at least one of your children was under 18 and in her care. She would also get a monthly payment for each child under 18. When a child turns 18, its payment stops; when the widow no longer has children under 18 with her, her benefit stops.

WIDOW'S BENEFIT: If you should die, your widow would get a monthly payment if she is 65 years old (or when she turns 65), whether or not there are children under 18. Thus if a young worker died, his wife and children would draw family benefits until the youngest of the children passed 18; then all payments would stop until the wife reached 65; and from then on she would receive the widow's benefit.

RETIREMENT BENEFITS: If you reach 65, and retire, you get a monthly payment. If your wife is 65, too, there will be an added sum for her. If you have children under 18, there will still be another addition for each of them and a payment for your wife whether or not she is 65.

PARENTS' BENEFITS: If you should die, leaving no one eligible to receive the family or widow's benefits, but with 65-year-old parents dependent on you, they can receive monthly payments.

LUMP-SUM PAYMENT: If you should die, a modest cash payment is made immediately to your wife, in addition to any monthly benefits that may be paid. If you die single, it can be used to reimburse ANYONE who paid your funeral expenses.

NOW FOR THE CATCH: Before you or your family can be entitled to this protection, you must become eligible by working under social security for a certain length of time. And the requirements differ for the different kinds of benefits. In our next issue we will take up these eligibility requirements.

Platter Chatter

By MALONEY

Well, it did it. "Rags to Riches" is now tops among the top ten. This fine tune by Tony Bennett is really good. It has a nice tangoish flavor to it.

In the second spot is that "lonely stretch of special beach" song, "Ebb Tide." This song, played by the F. Chackfield Orchestra, was displaced by "Rags to Riches" this week.

Habla Espanol? You don't have to speak Spanish to enjoy this week's third-place song. It's "Vaya Con Dios" by Les Paul and Mary Ford. This song is really an old timer among the top ten. It's been up there for quite a while.

The Ames Brothers are at it again. Their recording of "You, You, You" has gone up to the fourth spot in the standings. Remember it was in fifth spot a week ago. Maybe it's trying to take the top spot again.

Here's a list of the rest of the top ten:

5. "Eh Cumpari," by Julius La Rosa.

6. "Ricochet," Teresa Brewer.

7. "That's Amore," by Dean Martin.

8. "Many Times," by Eddie Fisher.

9. "Changing Partners," by Patty Page.

10. "Oh!" by PeeWee Hunt.

Drums Forgotten

The Hartnell College band, under the able direction of Mr. Lorell McCann, attended the Little Rose Bowl contest held in Pasadena, California.

The trip, which had been carefully planned, went off without a hitch . . . and two bass drums. When the band arrived in Pasadena, Mr. McCann had the bandmen move their luggage and instruments into their hotel rooms.

It was then that Mr. McCann made the discovery that the two big bass drums were missing. What could he do? He phoned back to Mr. Lemos . . . could he help him? He contacted the Rose Bowl Committee. They said they would look into the matter. Soon all of the schools in the area were looking for a bass drum for the Hartnell Band.

Finally a good Samaritan volunteered their big bass drum. The school was El Hambro High School in Pasadena.

The band, and Mr. McCann, wish to convey their hearty thanks for "saving the day."

Band Bill Paid

One of the largest cash payments from A.S.B. funds has now been made, states Hartnell Student Body Commissioner of Finance Irwin Forbes.

A check for $2,678.26 was mailed on December 4 to the Ostwald Uniform Company, in payment for the new Hartnell band uniforms. Despite the cost, students have expressed the opinion that the new uniforms were worth it.

HOW TO GET A CHRISTMAS JOB

By ANN NOYMOUS

With Christmas almost here everyone is pounding the streets looking for a job to earn gift loot. Nothing is worse than to be flat broke around the Yuletide season; however, nothing is harder than to beat twenty other kids out of the same idea of temporary employment. Anny succeeded in snaring a job, and she offers the following advice to the unfortunate ones who are still looking:

First of all, wear some thick-soled shoes. I had to put taps over the holes in mine. If you can hear me coming down the hall now, don't turn around and stare because no one's supposed to know who Anny is. Secondly, you have to rise with the chickens, which will probably catch some of us just getting in. Oh, well, go in, change your clothes, drink a glass of orange juice (don't laugh, it helps once in a while—especially when you run out of mix), and proceed out the door again. If you sit out in front of your prospective employer's establishment like a drowned rat, you might get the job purely out of sympathy. If that doesn't work, he might be so sleepy you could talk him into a partnership. The business organization students like Joe Imboden could tell you all about this.

Another angle is to get one of your buddies to go in and make the present salesman look bad. If your friend does a good enough job, the boss will do a firing shot and you can conveniently slip in while he's calling the employment office. Naturally you happen to have loads of experience. By the time he finds out you'll have a couple of days' pay anyway. The best and only sure way to get that Christmas job is to have your name in a year in advance. Well, one consolation of not finding one is—think of all the money you won't be spending.

Anyone speeding by the driving range when our golf class was in session might think they were practicing to raise their batting average for the spring season. Maybe Jess Regli ought to scout the range one of these days. Anny got the word that no one was improving except Coach Voris. Anastasia hardly ever makes it to class in time. It's those convoys on the Monterey highway. Angelo Chiurato really drives 'em out, but sometimes they're hooks (whatever that is).

Anny had a hard time keeping up with all that went on at the football banquet last week. I was sitting at the front and all the excitement seemed to be coming from the back. First of all, Jim Crain dropped his salad on the floor. You'd think after hanging onto all those passes he wouldn't be such a butterfingers. I guess Okie thought he was working in the Hartnell cafeteria because he got up and helped a pretty blonde take the dishes to the kitchen. From time to time during the ceremonies we were serenaded by the sound of bells. Someone said it was the bell ringers using water glasses. The most embarrassing moment for each player, Anny observed, was going to get their gold football. Jerry Jackstis was so anxious to get his he almost got the one with Tooty's name on it. With the equivalent of a whole rooting section cheering Dillard's presentation, Chuck tried to hide his red face. Paul Malech didn't seem to mind stalking to the awards table at all. Maybe he took dramatics in high school. Marvin Roberts dropped his football under the table and it rolled clear down to the other end. He tried to get it but Bullian and Coronado kept kicking him. He had to give up until everyone left. Anny suspects this gang had a ball in Pasadena last week end.

Getting back to Christmas, the gifts are said to be mainly for the younger generation. Whether they get the most joy from the toys or not is debatable. Anny heard that Mike Greco waits till everyone goes to sleep at his home, creeps out to the Christmas tree, and plays with the electric train he got his little brother. Sounds like fun. For those that don't have any little brothers or sisters it is harder to keep up appearances. Here is what happened to Gwen Stewart. Before she went into the store, she looked both ways and found the coast clear. She kept running into people she knew and practically made a path scampering away from the top department. After she spotted something she couldn't resist (she had to glance slyly so no one would catch her) she could not get waited on. After an hour or two the clerk ambled over and discovered it was the last one on display. Therefore, he relayed the order of a big white teddy bear, serial number 18473, all the way to the stock room via that great means of communication—a loud mouth. Gwen climbed out from under the counter after all the excitement was over and the package was wrapped. Sneaking out the back entrance she ran into the whole football team and was forced to show them what was in the big package she got for her "little cousin." The things a girl has to do these Christmas days to get a teddy bear for her room.

By the way, happy Christmas vacation. See you the 4th of the New Year. By that time all New Year's resolutions should be broken and everyone will be back to normal.

By-Laws Revised Soon

Student President Dick Eppley granted a request made by Doris Simon, chairman of the committee to revise the by-laws to appoint the whole student commission on the committee.

The committee thought that the job was too big and too important for just a few of the students.

Antique Coin Found

Aurelio Marquez caused local historians to raise eyebrows when he showed an old silver coin, dated in the year 1773, that he had found at the site of the old Soledad Mission. Aurelio is a student at Hartnell and makes his residence at Chualar, California.

Age, 18; Ht. 5-6; Wt., 138; Frosh
Rated as an unknown quantity by Coach Adams. Shows good speed in practice. Played first string for the Mission High School (S.F.) lightweights at 130 pounds. His coach in high school was Lloyd Leight. He played soccer in high school. Majoring in mechanical engineering and wants to make that his career. His dad, Tullio L. Bernasconi, is with the Bruce Church Company.

DOSIER, MAX —

Age, 19; Ht., 5-11; Wt., 165; Soph
A new man who played for Coach Stensen at Richmond High School. Might develop. Shows some promise but lacks background. Needs plenty of work. A good student. Majoring in dentistry. His dad is Charles Losier, a packer boss.

LUM, HOWARD —

Age, 17; Ht., 5-10; Wt., 160; Frosh
Lot of speed and has good background. Played at Salinas Union High School under Don Nergord. Coach Adams considers him a great prospect. Has a fine background. Majoring in engineering and hopes to make a career out of it. Likes to play pool. His dad is a hotel-keeper.

MARTIN, RONALD —

Age, 19; Ht., 5-11; Wt., 165; Soph
Played as a reserve for Hartnell last year. Had no high school experience. Might develop if given a chance. Turned out for track in high school. Wants to be a T.V. technician and is taking radio and T.V. at Hartnell A. and M. His dad, H. Spence, is a lettuce boss.

MARTINES, GEORGE G. —

Age, 18; Ht., 5-8; Wt., 165; Frosh
New player. Played some ball at Mission High in San Luis Obispo where his coach was Roza Phillips. Turned out for high school football and baseball. Turned out for football at Hartnell but dropped out. Wants to be a journalist. Likes hunting and fishing. Coach Adams believes Martines has plenty of speed to make a good court man.

ROWLEY, JACK —

Age, 22; Ht., 6-2; Wt., 175; Frosh
This fellow could be a great prospect. Played basketball under Coach Lindeburg at Santa Cruz High School. Was considered a great prospect when in high school. Has been in the service and saw plenty of basketball duty. Played for several service teams.

CENTERS

BOUTTE, MORRIS —

Age, 19; Ht., 6-1; Wt. 166; Soph
Didn't play last year, but had some high school basketball at Salinas high school under Coach Russ Messner. Coach Adams rates him as "very fast" and in the "shows promise" bracket. Played high school baseball and also last season with the Hartnell club under Jess Regli. Majoring in the occupational field, likes baseball as a hobby and wants to be a top-flight mechanic. His dad is in the construction field.

LARSON, ROBERT —

Age, 19; Ht., 6-1; Wt., 166; Soph
Larson was high scorer last year for Hartnell with 396 points. He bucketed 134 field goals and 128 free throws. Larson never played in high school but Coach Adams rates him a fine college prospect.

Has plenty of speed, excellent coordination and quick hand movement when in the post spot. Attended Salinas Union High School but never turned out for any sport. Is attending the Hartnell A. and M., in the auto mechanics classes. Loves hunting and fishing. Draft status is 1-A. His dad is a manager of a poultry product organization.

OLSON, CHARLES —

Age, 18; Ht., 6-3; Wt., 195; Soph
This outstanding football end could make a fine center claims Coach Ed Adams. He's agile and isn't afraid to work under the boards. Played high school basketball at Fremont under Coach Marty Mathewson. Worked as sub last year for the Hartnell team. He likes football and track and has turned out for those sports at Hartnell. A football shoulder injury might limit his play. Olson's dad is a farmer and follows his son very closely in athletic contests.

FORWARDS

Age, 18; Ht., 6-2; Wt., 200; Frosh
Coach Adams figures Chernetsky will see some reserve action. Played at Salinas Union High School under Russ Messner. Also played high school football. Chernetsky's dad is a labor contractor.

PADEN, GARY —

Age, 19; Ht., 6-1; Wt., 180; Frosh
Could improve and be a good asset to club. Works hard and shows plenty of hustle. Has a better than average set shot. Played basketball at Santa Cruz High School under Coach Lindeburg. Also played high school golf and football. Played first string at Santa Cruz. Played football at Hartnell also.

SMITH, WILLIAM —

Age, 19; Ht., 6-2; Wt., 180; Soph
Bill played first string last season. Scored 316 points. Can shoot well with either hand. Will play major role in this season's team. Played football and baseball in high school. Turned out for baseball at Hartnell. Hobby is swimming. His dad is a farmer in the Soledad area. Bill attended Gonzales high school. High school coach was Claris Burns.

WILLIAMS, DONALD —

Age, 19; Ht., 6-2; Wt., 185; Soph
Williams was a reserve last season. Coach Adams rates Williams as a hard worker. Likes the way he works off the boards. Has a tendency to be better at long range shooting. Played basketball at Watsonville high school in 1951-2. Also played high school football. Was ineligible last season at Hartnell. Played center in high school and was coached by Ron Setaley. His dad works for the Coast Counties Gas and Electric Company.

WITHERS, HEBERT —

Age, 24; Ht., 6-0; Wt., 170; Soph
Could be Hartnell's find of the year in basketball. Withers played for the Panthers in 1948-9 before going into service. Played a lot of service ball. Greatly improved in ball handling, claims Coach Adams. A great prospect and might be one of the better ball handlers in the conference. Good with either left or right hand. Went to Tech High in Oakland. Never played high school basketball. Played high school baseball. Majoring in education. Lists Oakland as his hometown.

SPORTS NOTES

By GEORGE MARTINES

Ed Adams is the man with the smile nowadays, and who wouldn't be with a wonderful team like Ed has. So far this season the Panther hardwooders, including the J.V.'s, have won seven games. Who knows, maybe even a championship will derive out of Coach Adams' wonderful material.

Well, everyone who viewed or listened over the air to the Junior Rose Bowl tilt between Bakersfield and Oklahoma J.C. says Hartnell could have—well, everyone including Coach Dick Voris knows what they could have done.

The coach with trouble on his hands at the present is baseball coach Jess Regli. Jess will be losing some star players when "Tony" Teresa, his brilliant playing outfielder, along with Dick Herman, a great slugger, will be transferring to four-year colleges to play football during the coming year.

The Hartnell Small College Tourney, which is to be held at the Men's Gym on December 21, 22, and 23, promises to be great entertainment. Let's support the team by seeing all the students present.

Volleyball

The second half of noon league basketball is under way, as the All-Americans have tasted their first victory by downing the newcoming Grubby Mudders. The intramural teams are referred to as follows: Hawaiians, Barnstormers, Grubby Mudders, Vets, Five Aces, Jokers Stress & Strain and the All-Americans.

Coach Jess Regli has submitted the following boys to play on the hardwood teams. For the All-Americans: Tony Teresa, captain; Warren Tibbs, Henry Hibino, Marvin Anderson, Henry Garehime, Al Baguio, Richard Adams and Hiroshi Fujii. Grubby Mudders: Earl Fiscalini, Joe Imboden, Bob Chernetsky, Don Thomas, Skip Conley, Jim Laporte, and Art Rodriguez, captain. Barnstormers: Steve Knego, captain; John Ohaviano, John Ucovich, Dean Larkin, Sam Zullo, Gary Webb, Ed Fartado, and Gerald Little. Hawaiians: Robert Nuha, Lawrence Sham, Gordon Chang, Eddie Ross, Don Rachya, Paul Nava, Suzimo Corpuz, Constancio Gionson, and Dave Pealson. Vets: Martin O'Grady, Ken Hatterman, Richard Hitchcock, Al Costa, Ken Huston, Ramar Beauchamp, and Captain Robert Todd. Jokers, Jim Jeffers, D. Della, R. Meek, A. Miller, D. Macriel, L. Culper. Stress & Strain: Robert Hante, George Shaw, Harold Metmire, Jerry Lourazzi, Jerry Licari, Edward Dante, Sam Zullo, Ted Lang, and Jim Snike.

Men Have New Representative

The Hartnell Student Commission has named George Bernasconi to replace Ted Lang as men's representative of Hartnell. George is from San Francisco and is majoring in mechanical engineering, and is also a member of the Hartnell basketball team.

The main duty of the men's representative is to act as the coordinator of all business relating to men's activities, including athletics.
